You have the right to make a complaint against a police officer for any improper police conduct: California law requires this agency to have a procedure to investigate citizen's complaints. You have a right to a written description of this procedure. This agency may find after investigation that there is not enough evidence to warrant action on your complaint; even if that is the case, you have the right to make the complaint and have it investigated if you believe the officer behaved improperly. Citizen's complaints and any reports or findings relating to complaints must be retained by this agency for at least five years.

I have read and understand the above statement:
